About Location Groups and Becoming an Event Organizer

What are they?

These are open (public) groups for a location near you that allow you to connect people around local events.

*Note: The location groups are mainly city-based, but exceptions may be considered due to the particular use case.

Who can join?

All open groups are for all community members to actively interact with one another. Location groups provide the platform to share and discuss local events. You don't necessarily have to be from the city to join but you might have some kind of connection, for example, you travel there often with work.

Why is there no group for my location?

Location groups are set up by YOU, the community member! If you are missing a group for your location, you might consider to become an event organizer and set up your own location group. You might even know others that could support you.

*Note: What is key for any new community is to start small, for example organize a casual meetup.
